VALIDITY OF DIVORCES

OPINION. Parties to a Suit Must Have a Bona

Action is Initiated. Justice Gray's written opinion on the divorce cases handed down Monday in the United States Supreme Court has been made public. Of the three cases decided only one, that of Streitwolf vs. Streitwolf, dealt with a Dakota divorce case. In that case the husband, a resident of Brunswick, N. J., had visited North Dakota for three weeks in May, 1897, and in August of that year returned and instituted his suit for divorce three days after his arrival the second time, never having mentioned his May visit to any of his friends or relatives in the east. The decision in this case, aside from the recital of the history of it, was very brief, being in the following words: "The law of North Dakota requires a domicile in good faith of the libelant for ninety days as a prerequisite to jurisdiction of a case of divorce. The facts in evidence warranted and indeed required the finding that the husband had no bona fide domicile in the state of North Dakota when he obtained a divorce there, and it is not pretended that the wife had an independent domicile in North Dakota or was ever in that state. The court of that state, therefore, had no jurisdiction."

No Legal Domicile in Pennsylvania. The other case in which an outside decree was negatived was that of Bell vs. Bell. WASHINGTON, D. C., POST OFFICE NOTICE. Should be read daily, as changes may occur at N. Y. The case originated in 1894 and the any time.

N. 1. The case originated in 1894, and the FOREIGN MAILS are forwarded to the ports of husband, Frederick Bell, resisted the wife's before the filing of the petition. Therefore, the court in Pennsylvania had no jurisdic-or in any other state." Had a Bona Fide Residence. The only case of the three in which the court sustained the decree was that of Atherton against Atherton. In that case the record showed that the Athertons had resided in Kentucky, but that the wife deserted her husband and returned to her home in New York. The husband brought suit in Kentucky, his lawyer notifying or attempting to notify Mrs. Atherton of the action by sending her a copy of his peti-tion through the mail. The New York courts held the decree to be invalid, but the decision was overruled. Justice Gray

"In this case the divorce in Kentucky was by the court of the state which had been the undoubted domicile of the hus-band, and which was the only matrimonial domicile of the husband and wife. The single question to be decided is the validity of that divorce, granted after such notice had been given as was required by the statutes of Kentucky." Continuing, the court-held that there had been due compliance with the law, even though Mrs. Atherton had failed to receive the letter inclosing a copy of the petition for divorce.
"The question," said Justice Gray in that tual notice of the proceedings, but whether such reasonable steps had been taken to give her notice as to bind her by the decree in the state of the domicile. We are of opinion that the undisputed facts show that such efforts were required by the statutes of Kentucky and were actually made to give the wife actual notice of the suit filed in Kentucky, so as to make the decree of the court there, granting divorce upon the ground that she had abandoned her husband, as binding on her as if she had been served with notice in Kentucky or had voluntarily appeared in the suit. Pinding her to that full extent, it estab-lished beyond contradiction that she had abandoned her husband, and precludes her from asserting that she left him on account of his cruel treatment. Justice Gray then concludes that as the proceeding was regular the decree is en-titled to as great credit by the courts of the state of New York as it receives in Rates for Private Cars. The interstate commerce commission has announced a decision in which it holds that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, if it transports private cars of any class, must in like manner and upon like terms transport all private cars occupied for the same or similar purposes. It says that the road, however, may lawfully decline to haul private cars at all, or it may haul private cars of one class and refuse to haul others of a wholly different class. The case is that of Spencer E. Carr against the Northern Pacific. The complainant is a commercial salesman, who uses a private car on his trips, and on a first trip between St. Paul, Minn., and Portland, Ore., he was charged fifteen round trip fares, but on subsequent trips was charged fifteen local fares from point to point, where he stopped along the line. He claimed this a discrimination as compared with the rates granted theatrical, pleasure and other parties in private cars.

The commission holds that the services mentioned are not similar, and that the rates charged, while not held to be reasonable, are not shown to be unreasonable.

The State Department has been informed by Consul Beutelspacher at Moncton in a report to the department of the erection of new pulp mills in Nova Scotia by the Sissiboo Pulp and Paper Company of Weymouth. The mill is now in operation, and the output of the plant is estimated at thirty tons daily. The mill is located three miles above We mouth Falls, at Sissiboo Falls, and the dam, which the company has built, is said to be one of the largest

CHURCH WORK FOR NEGRO

ADDRESS BY BISHOP ARNETT BE-FORE A. M. E. FINANCIAL BOARD.

Others Discuss the Importance Education - Report of the

"The Future of the Negro in This Country and His Present Conditions in All Sections of the Country." was discussed by the financial board of the African M. E. Church last night. Bishop Arnett, who is presiding, declared his race could no longer be on the charity of the world, but should depend on their own individual efforts. "We cannot afford to have our race going around begging," he said. "Put your money together and go into business; make places for your boys and girls."

Dr. E. W. Lampton of Greenville, Miss., who is at the head of the Stringer Grand Lodge of Negro Masons, said the two races are getting along well together in the south. The negroes and white people are all engaged in the same kind of business, working for the uplifting of our country. They are teaching the boys and girls that fitness and character, not color, must win for them in the future. There was one town in Mississtppi, he said, in which there was none but negroes, and up to this time there had not been any use for a Other addresses were made by John Webb of Louisiana, A. J. The board has concluded its business Bishop B. W. Arnett, D. D., called the board to order yesterday morning promptly at 9 o'clock, and made the opening prayer. Only a short session was had and the board adjourned in order to be photographed It was a few minutes past 11 o'clock when the board returned, and Bishop Arnett, in calling it to order again, delivered a short address in which he spoke of what the A. M. E. Church had accomplished for the negro through that church. the negro had reached the place in his history where he must do something for himself and that he had no time to spend in "Richard Allen, the founder of our church," said the bishop, "set a great example before us in 1787, when he resented an insult from the M. E. Church when ordered up from holy communion, and came out and organized the A. M. E. Church, which is one of the largest and most ag gressive church organizations in this country among our people. We must do our duty. You who are leaders of our people should encourage our young people to do their duty. You should have them to stand to-gether and not be criminals. The A. M. E. Church is spending its money for the up lift of the negro.

Education of Boys and Girls. Rev. Dr. John Hurst of Baltimore, recording secretary of the board, delivered a short address, in which he called attention to what had been accomplished by the A. M. E. Church for the uplifting of the negro. He said the work of the church in the next century would be to educate the young negro boys and girls and have them to get character, education and money, and in this way they would be able to soon take N. Inquiry at the State Department brought forth a positive denial of any joint action on the part of the United States, Great Britain, Germany and Spain, relative to the Venezuelan courts. Some time ago, in connection with the asphalt troubles, the State Department found it necessary to instruct Minister Loomis to inform the Venezuelan government that in the event that it forcibly dispossessed American companies from their concessions, the United States government would reserve the right to investigate the legality of the pro-cedure which brought about the ejectment. There was no thought of combining forces with other nations in this matter. However, it is regarded as entirely within be-lief that some of the powers named, finding themselves in an attitude similar to the United States toward the Venezuelan courts, have taken diplomatic action in the same line as was laid down for Mr. Loomis to follow. But of this there is no official

"I understand," says Mr. Rines, in a communication to the Commissioners, "that in your all-seeing wisdom you have decided that it is injurious to and against the benefits of citizens to place tin cans on the dumps. Now, in to place tin cans on the dumps. Now, in hotel refuse we have ashes, tin cans, etc., and it has been refused by reason of tin cans. What are we to do with the tin cans? Are you enforcing a law that you have made without providing a remedy? Please let me know at once, as we have a lot of tin cans to dispose of."

It is understood the Commissioners will invite Mr. Rines' attention to a recent report of the superintendent of the street.

After carrying turkey and cranberry sauce, ice cream and other good things around, the Vice President made a speech. He told the boys how they might become great men, and said that they had as good chance to become governor and Vice President, and even President, as himself. Then he touched on his recent hunting trip in the west, and told the boys that the biggest lion that he and his dog to-gether had killed weighed only 227 pounds. A number of society people were present and also waited on the boys. Mr. Roosevelt went to his sister's home after the
